

CALL FOR PAPERS

SUBMISSION DEADLINE:
SEPTEMBER 22, 2014

MID-HUDSON VALLEY UNDERGRADUATE PHILOSOPHY CONFERENCE

NOVEMBER 14-15, 2014

The Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies at Marist College will host the Fifth Mid-Hudson Valley Undergraduate Philosophy Conference November 14-15, 2014. Undergraduates are encouraged to submit papers on any topic in philosophy. The conference is selective, accepting at most six papers. There are no concurrent presentations. Each paper presentation includes comments from another undergraduate from either Marist College or another one of the colleges in the Mid-Hudson Valley Region of Upstate New York.

The keynote speaker this year will be Joshua Knobe, Professor in the Program in Cognitive Science and the Department of Philosophy at Yale University. Professor Knobe's work has been published in leading philosophy, psychology, and interdisciplinary cognitive science journals as well as edited collections in these fields. He co-edited the collections, Experimental Philosophy, Volumes 1 and 2 (Oxford University Press, 2008 and 2014), and is the co-editor of the annual, Oxford Studies in Experimental Philosophy, the first volume of which will appear in 2015.

Please send papers of no more than 3,000 words by September 22, 2014. We are accepting electronic submissions by attachment in PDF or MS Word format. Send submissions to Andrei Buckareff at andrei.buckareff@marist.edu.